Publication: Please include a photo of yourself for publication. If space permits, a scholarship recipient's essay may be published in the Orange County REMC Indiana Connection magazine. When choosing a photo to send, please send a professional quality head shot (NOT a full body "glamour" shot. Please do not send photos with pets, vehicles or other props.)

Judges: The Orange County REMC General Manager and the coordinator for Operation Roundup Trustees will verify applicant eligibility. Essays will be presented with the identity of the applicant withheld, to three members of the Operation Round Up board of trustees for final judging.

Judging Criteria: The essay must be 700 words, but not more than 1000 words. Content is much more important than length. The essay should be typed, and will be evaluated on content. While the essay makes up half of the final score, other areas are just as important. Please list other activities as well – at school, church, at work, in your community, etc. Also, verification of your grade point average must be provided for the current school year, and at least one prior school year (include more, if you so choose). You may provide up to three letters of recommendation. Judges will look at overall achievements and accomplishments – not just your writing ability or GPA.

Scoring: Applications will be evaluated on the following:

- 50% Essay: The essay will be judged on originality and content. Is it informative and thought provoking? Are assertions and comments supported with facts or practical ideas? Is it written from a young person's point of view? Remember, the essay should be the work of the student applying for the scholarship. Editing, grammar, sentence structure etc., are considered.
- 25% Community/School Involvement: Student activities in school, at home, community, work, etc., will enhance a student's application. Be sure to mention any special recognitions, offices you now or have held in the past, or awards you have received.
- 25% Academics/Letter of Recommendation: Each applicant must verify their academic standing for the current school year, and at least the previous year as well. Have your guidance department fill in the appropriate line on the application, or include a letter from a guidance counselor simply verifying your overall grade point average for the current and past year. A transcript is not necessary, but may be included if it is easier than a letter. Class ranking, if possible, is also helpful. You may submit up to three letters of recommendation from non-family members (teacher, employer, community leader, guidance counselor, pastor etc.) An exception is permitted for home schooled applicants who wish to have a letter presented from a parent instructor.

Possible Interview for Finalist: In the event the judging is close, finalists may be asked to take part in an interview with the judges. The interview will be kept very informal, will be brief, and will focus on a student's goals, personality, initiative, etc.

Helpful Hints: Ask yourself: what do I think? Who – what – when – where – why – how... Then explain these thoughts in a logical manner. Keep in mind the judges want essays written by young people. Help from parents or teachers are encouraged, but the emphasis should be on your ideas and thoughts.
