INTRO TO STREAMING

What is Streaming?

You're streaming when you watch videos, listen to audio, and use apps on an internet-connected device, like your computer, smartphone, or even TV.

Why Should I Stream?

It's a convenient, flexible, and personalized way to get instant access to endless entertainment. Once you get the hang of it, streaming is a piece of cake.

How is Streaming Different than Cable?

You use internet-connected apps to watch shows, movies, and more, anytime, anywhere. Some apps charge subscription fees, others are free with ads, and some offer free introductory trials. Depending on what you watch, streaming can be a cost-effective way to access your favorite content.

How do I Stream on my TV?

With an internet connection, you can stream right on your smart TV or you can make your regular TV "smart" by plugging in a streaming media player.

Smart TVs

These are TVs with built-in apps for streaming. All you have to do is plug in your TV and you're ready to access apps to start watching movies and shows.

Streaming Media Players

If you don't have a Smart TV, that's OK. As long as your TV has an HDMI port, you can plug in a streaming media player, like an Amazon Fire TV Stick or Roku device.

HELPFUL TIPS

WiFi Calling

Wifi calling can be enabled on your smart-phone from your settings menu. AT&T, Verizon, Sprint and T-Mobile all have devices that support Wifi Calling. If you don't have a reliable cell service at your home, with high speed internet, you can still make phone calls and send text messages with your smart-phone, just enable Wifi calling. Check with your cellular provider for more details.

Finding Your WiFi Password

On your router, you will find a white sticker. Your password will be the letter and number combination listed next to the WPA.

WiFi Mesh Device

Do you have a large home? Our mesh WiFi extenders boost your signal from an equally strong connection in every corner. During your home installation, your service technician can help you determine if a WiFi extender is right for you. The price is $4.95 / month.
